Voters asked to reconsider high school improvement

by Cheryll Ruley Staff Writer

Two high school improvement proposals, one which failed by just 23 votes last June, will go before the voters again March 20 in a special school election.

Bond Proposal I to expand and improve Grayling High School, its equipment, heating/air conditioning/ventilation and furnishings, is not to exceed $14,050,000 and is to be repaid in 20 years or less. The expansion would add 30,000 square feet of space to the current building

The Crawford AuSable School District Board of Education estimates the simple average debt millage rate for the life of the bond issue at 2.68 mills or $2.68 per $1,000 of taxable value of property within the District, a net school millage increase of 1.23 mill on current property taxes. That means District property taxpayers will see an increase of $1.23 for each $1,000 of taxable value on their property. For example, a home with a taxable value of $50,000 will see an increase in property taxes of $61.50 annually if the proposal

Bond Proposal II concerns an addition to and the remodeling of the existing gymnasium at the high school at a cost of $2,500,000 to be repaid within 20 years. The simple rate average debt for the life of this Continued on Page 2A

MEDALLION HUNT COMES TO AN END

► First-time hunter Megan Walker of Grayling finds grand prize medallion

by Caleb Casey Staff Writer

The 2001 Sawmill Medallion Hunt came to an end last Wednesday when Megan Walker of Grayling found the grand prize medallion at Canoe Harbor State Forest Campground near the Mason Tract.

Walker said she had been searching the Canoe Harbor area since the previous Thursday.

"I knew it was here," she said.

On Wednesday, Walker was parked inside the campground for the reading of the final clue over the radio at 4:30 p.m. The clue revealed the location of the large medallion, "site number seven," and told hunters to go 50 paces from the site's picnic table.

Walker, raced out of her vehicle toward the site on foot, quickly covering the few hundred feet to site #7. She jogged the 50 paces back into the woods through almost a foot of snow, but didn't immediately notice the grand prize medallion, which was suspended from a tree branch about 15 feet in the air.

Walker and her younger brother James were the only hunters in the area for several minutes, then others started to arrive. About a dozen people combed the forest looking for the medallion, then Walker

Did you ever want to be a part of Crawford County history? By donating an item on the "Wish List" of a local non-profit group, you can become part of the history of the Devereaux Memorial Crawford County Library, scheduled for ground-breaking this

The Friends of the Crawford County Library have put together a list of wants and needs for the new facility and is asking individuals, families, groups, organizations, classes, churches, employees and anyone else interested to sponsor one or more of the items.

Because the group is a non-profit, 501(c)3 organization, all donations made are tax deductible and it's not too early to consider a charitable contribution for the 2001 tax

Prices of the items on the "Wish List" range from $10 to $5,500 and each item sponsored will be dedicated in the name(s) of the donor(s) at a special opening ceremony in 2002. Although the opening is more than a year away, The Friends of the Crawford County Library is asking for the public's help now.

Big Rock Point nuclear debris to be subject of public meeting tions surrounding the safety of tion and answer forum," Merrill 'clean" debris proposed to be discarded at the Waters landfill, a public meeting has been scheduled. The debris in question will come from the dismantling of Consumers Energy's Big Rock Point nuclear power plant in Charlevoix.

Crawford County Environmental Monitor Pat Merrill has arranged to have Paul Rossi, a Health Physicist II at Michigan State University, speak at a public meeting on March 14 at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria of the AuSable Primary School in Grayling. Rossi works in the college's Office of Radiation, Chemical and Biological Safety at the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory in East Lansing.

Merrill said the purpose of the meeting is to inform the public regarding the level of radiation contained in the debris; it is not a public hearing. Waste Management, which operates the landfill, can accept the debris with or without the approval of county officials and/or residents. He said Rossi has been reviewing the disposal plan for the County and should be able to provide answers to questions residents are asking.

"We'd like to keep the meeting as informative as possible, yet allow Because of the concern and ques- the public to participate in a quessaid. "Mr. Rossi is well-versed in the field of nuclear science."

Approximately 42,000 tons of building debris from the nuclear plant is slated to end up at Waters. While back in November, the Gaylord Herald Times reported the Otsego County Board of Commissioners "expressed modest concern over the plan," Crawford County Commissioner Lynnette Corlew said, "I don't like us being the dumping ground for everyone and everything." Concerned with the term "low level radiation," the Crawford County Board would like safeguards and testing in place before the debris enters the landfill grounds to assure the radiation level is not dangerous.

Also scheduled to be present and provide information at the meeting are representatives from Consumers Energy, Waste Management, the Department of Environmental Quality, Otsego County, Crawford County and Maple Forest Township.

"If you have any concerns, you need to show up because this will be the only public meeting in Crawford County regarding the disposal of Big Rock debris at the landfill," Merrill said.

Real world economy educates fourth grade class

by Cheryll Ruley Staff Writer

Fourth grade students in Kim Laughton's class at Grayling Elementary School have been getting a taste of the "real world" lately. Laughton's class has been operating on a "mini-economy" since January 10, helping students to understand and apply economic concepts in their own lives and living with the choices they make.

In the mini-economy, students earn classroom money by making and selling their own products, fulfilling jobs (such as a police officer who has the authority to issue tickets to those who break class and/or school rules), cashiering, etc. Students have the opportunity to hold different jobs throughout the year providing services similar to those found in society and can even earn "bonus

Students get a taste of reality when they are faced with using a checkbook to pay rent, utilities and taxes each month, and deciding whether or not to buy health insurance which allows them a day's pay when they are absent due to illness.

Energy committee looking at ways to help with home heating bills

LANSING - Michigan residents may see increases in their natural gas rates following the end of a state program that capped customer prices below market costs, industry representatives told the House Energy and Technology Committee last week.

"Most Michigan residents have enjoyed very low natural gas prices because of a program the utility companies voluntarily agreed to participate in," said Rep. Ken Bradstreet (R-Gaylord), chair of the House Energy and Technology "Unfortunately, Michigan is going to have to face the reality of the current natural gas market while we work to do what we can to reduce the sticker shock." The Natural Gas Customer Choice Plan ends in April for Consumers Energy, and MichCon is asking the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) for a nine-month early departure from the choice program due to the high wholesale cost of gas.

MichCon are attempting to return to the Gas Cost Recovery Program. SEMCO Energy has proposed extending their participation in the current customer choice program through a plan that would establish a three-year fixed rate for their cus-

The customer choice program capped natural gas rates below $3 per Mcf (thousand cubic feet). The national wholesale price hit a high of $10 per Mcf during the last year, and has now leveled off between $6 and $7 per Mcf.

Utilities like MichCon and Consumers that operate under the new GCR Program will be subject to an annual reconciliation order, where audits will determine whether the rates charged to consumers reflect the actual cost paid by the utility for the purchase of natural gas.

"The committee is going to be very busy keeping an eye on this issue," said Bradstreet. "Next week, we will have the Department of Treasury and Family Independence Agency speak to the committee about energy assistance programs already in place, such as home heating tax credits and other incentives to help Michigan residents meet the increasing cost of natural gas.

"Like all commodities, market prices fluctuate and we have to do the best we can to keep costs affordable while searching for any possibilities that will lessen the hardships residents may face."

The boundaries of the proposed Authority include all land within the Crawford County borders.

The public hearing will be held Wednesday, February 21 at 10 a.m. as part of the agenda of the County Board's regular monthly meeting at the county courthouse, 200 West Michigan Avenue in Grayling. It will include information on funding cleanup work through the Authority, and how property owners (both residential and commercial) can get help to transform their brownfield into a "greenfield" and ready for reuse. A question and answer session, as well as time for public comment will be part of the hearing.

DEQ decision could affect brine well's future

► Results of some water, brine tests still not received by Road Commission

by Caleb Casey Staff Writer

The Crawford County Road Commission is still in the process of working with the Department of Environment Quality (DEQ) to test well water near the Road Commission's Martindale Road brine well, following a spill at the location last fall.

The DEQ and Road Commission took water samples not long after the spill site was cleaned up, and using the same samples, sent the water to different labs to have it tested. (The DEQ used its own lab.)

Most of the test results have been received, but a few have not. The test results have shown mostly "non-detect" levels or levels well below acceptable limits for minerals ter. It is used to keep dust down on that could be problematic.

On one well, however, there was a large discrepancy with regard to chloride levels. The water well, located near the brine well at a gas well site, yielded a sample that tested at 2 milligrams/liter at the DEQ lab, and tested at 1,700 mg/L at the lab company the Road Commission used.

(The Road Commission has since changed lab companies because the test results were not coming in quick enough.)

New samples have been taken at the water well site for a second test. More samples were also taken by the Road Commission at Martindale Road residences for further testing.

Results of the DEQ's test of the brine liquid itself have been received. Chloride and sodium levels were high, as expected. (Brine is natural, salty mineral water, which makes it beneficial to road commissions as a de-icing agent in the windirt roads during the summer.)

The DEQ's test of the brine showed "below the detection limit" for the following minerals: lead, mercury, zinc, silver, copper, cadmium, barium, and selenium.

Some arsenic was detected in the brine, and Road Commission officials are waiting for advice from the DEQ before deciding whether or not to close the well. The DEQ's test of the water in the area showed levels of arsenic "below the detection limit."

The arsenic detection limit for water is 0.05 mg/L. A test of one resident's water wells showed a 0.001 mg/L arsenic content, significantly less than the accepted level.

The test showed chloride levels in the water at 20 mg/L, well below 250 mg/L, the level at which chloride in water "becomes a concern."

So far, the quantity of arsenic and possible presence of other metals in the brine seems to be causing the most concern for area residents and the Road Commission.

As of last week, the Road Commission had not yet received the results of the brine sample it sent out for testing, so there has not been another set of results to compare to the DEQ's findings with regard to the brine and its contents.

Road Commission officials are currently waiting for the DEQ to make a recommendation concerning the Road Commission's brine operations.

"If MDEQ says (the brine) is not suitable, then we can't use it," said Road Commission Managing Director Don Babcock. "The people out there have a legitimate concern, we understand that. But we're road builders, not chemists. We need the DEQ to tell us where we need to go from here."

Babcock estimates the Road Commission has been using the brine well at Martindale Road since the late 1940s.

New equipment to improve airfield operations

► Grayling Army Airfield gets sorely needed shot in the arm from feds

U.S. Senators Carl Levin and Debbie Stabenow, both Michigan Democrats, announced late last month that the Federal Aviation Administration has awarded a block grant totalling $22,102,974 to the State of Michigan for various airport development projects at more than 70 smaller commercial airports and general aviation airports across the state, including the Grayling Army Airfield.

"Smaller airports across Michigan will be able to extend and repair their runways, acquire land for noise abatement and meet environmental concerns thanks to this grant," said Levin. "Air travelers in Michigan will see the result of these improvements almost immediately."

Grayling Army Airfield Airport Manager Sgt. First Class Dennis Palmer said improvements there will create a better situation for instrument training. He said it will also allow the Governor and other dignitaries to land locally when paying a visit.

Improvements at the airfield include the installation of an automated weather system (AWAS), replacement of the variable omni radio (VOR) from the Vietnam era and replacement of the non-directional beacon (NDB) equipment from the 1940s. Palmer said repair of existing radio equipment has become difficult over the past few years due to retirement of qualified technicians. "There just isn't the expertise out there anymore on this aging equipment," he said. The VOR and NDB aid in guiding aircraft to the airfield and will benefit both the military and private pilots accessing the fixed base operations (FBO) currently under the management of Bird's Eye Aviation.

The FBO will receive weather monitoring equipment as part of the funding. Also included is the construction of an approach to allow pilots an easier landing with better visibility of the airfield.

Palmer said, with the improvements, a direct communications link will be created between pilots and the Minneapolis center. Through the link, pilots will be able to access authorization for an "instrument departure" during bad weather.

The grant funding includes 10 percent matching contributions each from both the Michigan Department of Transportation's Aeronautics Division, who made the grant request, and the Michigan Army National Guard.

"We are working for a real good this article.

relationship with the community," said Sgt. Palmer. "Anything we can do for the betterment of this community is good." Preliminary work at the airfield has already begun.

"I am pleased that 76 airports across Michigan will receive additional federal funding to help them expand and improve air service for Michigan's passengers and visitors," Stabenow said. "This funding is critical to helping Michigan's community airports offer more convenient service in up-to-date facili-

The Michigan Bureau of Aeronautics will distribute the federal funds to the 76 airports. The grants will be used for improvements to enhance safety and capacity as well as to preserve the physical integrity of the system of airports in Michigan. Some specific projects include extensions of runways, land acquisition, environmental assessments, and rehabilitation of runways, aprons and taxiways. Most of the general aviation airports will receive a grant of $150,000 with some airports receiving more for priority projects while others will receive somewhat less.

Airports in Otsego and Roscommon Counties will also receive funding.

ALMANACK

by Dirk Milliman

What have we done to deserve this?

I'm amazed. And astounded. And saddened.

Being a big sports fan, I tend to pay lots of attention to things athletic. Over the past month or so, a number of things have occurred that have made me wonder why I pay any attention at all.

This past weekend -- a dead one for the sports nut, since both pro and college football are over, there are no hockey playoffs, and baseball has yet to begin spring training -- was "highlighted" by the National Basketball Association's all-star

In the weeks leading up to the "event," the stories began to circulate about how some of the selected "stars" did not want to participate in the weekend's events. (The NBA recently has added some add-on events, like their rookie game, their old-timers game, the three-point shooting contest and the slam dunk competition.)

The mentioned stars needed to "recuperate from nagging injuries." Several of the stars. Who played right up until their all-star break and were right back at it after the break.

What was really happening was these hoop stars wanted the long weekend off. Even though they were chosen to represent their teams as the elite in their sport and the best on their teams, they deemed it beneath them to show up and perform. For us, the fans. The paying customers. We are beneath them.

The weekend had a fitting end. After a one-point win decided the final minute of the last quarter of a game played with almost no defense, the most valuable player was chosen. He could have been the king of

Allen Iverson of the Philadelphia 76ers took home the trophy as the best of the best on the court.

The same Iverson who somehow made the academic grade and got into Georgetown University, where he played hoops for what was then the requisite two years. (If it were today, he could have jumped right from high school to the pros, as so many high school "stars" believe they can.) He did give his college career two years before he abandoned his educational plans and bolted to the NBA for the millions offered there.

This is the same Iverson who has argued with his coach, fought with his teammates, promoted himself for individual awards and put self ahead of the team.

The same Iverson who, this past summer, released a rap album with lyrics that were so offensive to females, homosexuals and others whose views he does not hold that the NBA office had to order him to dump the recording and promise to tone it down in the future.

The same Iverson who was caught on television the Sunday before the all-star game yelling obscenities at and taunting fans at an away game.

This is our Most Valuable NBA all-star. What have we done to bring this upon ourselves? Include in this the whole year of

Ray Lewis, football's version of One year ago, he stood accused of double murder. In the months following, he beat the murder charge by agreeing to testify against his friends and pled guilty to obstructing

He then went on to be named the Most Valuable Player on defense in the NFL, and won the top player award by leading his team to a Super Bowl win.

His attitude? I've always been a gangster. This is who I am. And we accept that?

Next up: former Packer Mark Chmura, accused and acquitted of forcing his 17-year old baby sitter to have sex. He may still face a civil suit from the family of his accuser, but bet on him being back in his sport this fall. Some team somewhere will take a gamble on him, if they think he can help them win.

It makes me wonder what sports I can let my kids watch. These are the role models they see glorified before them each week. Granted, these players have skills. They excel at their sport. But role models?

There are good guys in sports, too. Take Kalamazoo's own Derek Jeter. He's one of the best to play baseball right now. The three-time World Series champ is the backbone of the New York Yankees. His skills at shortstop and at the bat are worth $18 million each year. That's the value of his new 10-year contract.

What have we done to deserve this? Eighteen million dollars a year to play baseball?

We keep watching. We keep going to the games. We keep paying the ever-rising ticket prices. We buy the merchandise. We wear the logo gear. We line up to get the autographs. We make these people the stars of our time.

Eighteen million dollars a year to pay baseball?

profit place. My commissioner had better straighten this out now. I also want to know how county euthanasia drugs can be kept at this private facility?

Beth Wieland, how nice of you to volunteer your services at the animal shelter. Did you do that before? Are you biased against Dixie and are you bringing your bias to the county meetings? If so, are you representing the wishes of your constituents? You may do what you wish in your private life, but it had better not be affecting your representation of your Speaking of taxes... The county gives my tax dollars to this club, so I think that makes me a member and gives me some say. I urge each of you who feel the same to call your county commissioner and write a letter to 200 W. Michigan Avenue. They can deny 100 phone calls, but cannot deny 100 letters.

Lastly, the low cost s program was asked about at the meeting of this club. Every effort was made to avoid answering the question. The only discount was the state mandated deposit you have to pay and get back when the animal is spaved or neutered. The answer is, there is no more low cost program that has helped so many people and animals in this community.

This meeting was a joke. The biggest joke is on all of us who have given to the animal shelter over the years. This board does not like us coming forth to question their actions. Now they want a judge to allow them to change the bylaws. They also want him to tell them who may be members. Do you want to bet who will not be allowed in their exclusive little club? My guess is that it will be the 99% of this community who have always supported it. If accomplished, this move would erase the entire history of the Animal Shelter of Crawford County and your prior memberships.

People, this is not a legal board. We need to do something about this

Carmen Roby

Enough already... help the animals

God forbid, enough already! This Animal Shelter mess is tearing at the fabric of our community and I'm getting very weary of it all. What are we anyway: Palestinians and Jews? Serbs and Albanians? Maybe we're the Hatfields and the McCoys, though I believe they had the good sense to give up their blood feuds years ago. It would serve us well to do the same.

Due to the ongoing conflict between Side A and Side B, adopting adult cats and dogs -- which should be our common mission -has taken a back burner and a bad turn. It seems that Side A would rather throw stones and teach their children and neighbors to throw stones at Side B, rather than pick up a bag of cat or dog food, drive in the shelter gate, and turn a big smile on the first person or critter they see.

Sadly, I have friends inside the gates caring for the animals and I have friends outside the fence caring too, but those outside the fence are unable to truly do what they want to do... comfort the dogs and cats that nobody seems to want. The brutal truth about this conflict is that the animals are not winning here, because those saying they care the most resist becoming part of a greater, better team... say Side C!

Having followed this whole sad debacle from the beginning, I'd say the nasty mixture we have before us today began with attitude; it didn't begin with bad blood, it started festering due to bad attitude. And, once the situation was further inflamed with innuendo and misunderstanding, then the entire area was drawn into the foray. Now we feel the need to take sides, though damned if I will because it's gone on long enough!

So, how do we begin the healing? What do we, as a community, have to do to get Side A to pass the olive branch to Side B and lend their good old-fashioned elbow grease to that dreary little place the animals have to call home? And, will Side B be willing to accept graciously the help, the willingness, and the love that Side A certainly has for these poor critters? Will anybody consider building a strong, unified Side C?

I sincerely hope that we can start by exercising our rights as human beings to turn over a new leaf; to take seriously our animal overpopulation problem here, and to stop barricading the gates and to open our hearts to the dogs, cats and whatever else is dropped off as easily as our weekly garbage. Please pick up the phone and call a friend to volunteer with you. Who cares if you've never walked a dog before or watered a cat. And, finally, who really cares if you've walked and watered more animals than anyone else on earth? My question is: What are you doing today with your spare ago, and when I came up here on Saturdays, I would stop by the shelter and donate food and/or money, as well as spend time playing with some of the animals. Over the years, I have adopted a number of animals for family and friends, giving them all loving and caring homes. The only person I ever met was Dixie when I did this. To me, she is the animal shelter and all the good things it has done for the ani-

Not long ago I remember seeing in the paper that she needed help fixing a shed that was falling down. My question to the shelter board is: where was the money to fix it? You want control and to run things... how come she had to ask the community for help? As a member, I think I should be entitled to answers! I also wonder how long the county board has been giving money to the shelter, when years ago they did not and we as concerned pet owners donated to the funding. What caused them now to be concerned about it?

My last question is if the bylaws have procedures on voting for members, when was the meeting held, who voted, and why did we not know as members when it was? After all, I now know it is my tax dollars that are used to help fund it and I am a member, according to the bylaws I should have been aware of the meeting to decide this.

I have one other point to make. If the county commissioners have seen fit to give the animal shelter money, should they, too, not be a member of the organization? They voted to do this and I personally feel that if they want to do this, it's fine, but they are using my money to fund this. But, years ago they also gave Dixie the opportunity to do this when there was no money for it. They let her volunteer for what now is a thank-

The Road Commission gave Dixie a place to operate out of, at a very cheap rate of rent -- a dollar a year. Now, I believe with the prices of things today, that amount is like giving resources to the organization. Now, does that mean they, too, should have a say in the running of this organization? I think the citizens of Crawford County should call our commissioners and tell them our opinion is on this or attend the meetings since they have been elected to work for the best interest of their

So, please as citizens of this community let's get together and do what is right. Go to the meeting... voice your opinion... and call the commissioners... the president of the ASCC and any other person who is involved and let them know where you stand. I was at the dinner held by Dixie's Underdogs and I do believe we care.

'Underfunding' of mental health services in question

To the editor.

Gregory Paffhouse, Director of North Central Community Mental Health, was interviewed on channels 9&10 News and spoke of budget cuts which may seriously affect their ability to deliver services to certain clientele.

Mr. Paffhouse stated there is a perception that mental health agencies are over-funded. I am enclosing a letter obtained under the Freedom of Information Act from Mr. Paffhouse which shows that North Central spent $147,000 with a law firm in an attempt to oust a union of caregivers in the Residential Division. The same letter showed that North Central spent $5,500 to sue an individual for less than $2,400.

How can a public agency justify these expenditures? I am concerned that this is not an isolated incident. CMHs must be over-funded if they can spend money this way. I am a taxpayer in Crawford County as well as Otsego County. I think the County Commissioners should look into this before taxes are raised

The Bible Speaks

Are you Forgiving?

Many people suffer mental and physical problems because of personal grudges and guilt. You have heard people say, "I don't get mad. I get even." Some say. "I'll get even with you if it kills me." Some people have never asked forgiveness of anyone or given forgiveness to anyone. This attitude reflects both the sins of personal pride and unbelief in God's Holy Word.

Our Lord Jesus Christ taught us as His disciples to pray: "And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors, 13And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen," (Matt 6:12.13) Those who refuse to pray this simple prayer have not been forgiven of their own sins before God. "And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any: that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses. But if ye do not forgive, neither will your Father which is in heaven forgive your trespasses. (Mark 11:25,26)

How often must we forgive others? "Then came Peter to him, and said, Lord, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? till seven times? Jesus saith unto him, I say not unto thee, Until seven times: but, Until seventy times seven." (Matt. 18:21,22) In other words, don't keep count just forgive. But Jesus taught us that the person must admit wrong and repent before being forgiven. "Take heed to yourselves: If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him. And if he trespass against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying. I repent: thou shalt forgive him." (Luke 17:3,4)

When we take vengence on others instead of forgiving them, we are usurping the place of God. "Dearly beloved. avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord. 20Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head. 21Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good." (Rom 12:19-21)

God tells us how to live with others. "And be ve kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you." (Eph. 4:32) "Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye." (Col. 3:13) "Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing: but contrariwise blessing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing. (1 Pet. 3:9) "Bless them which persecute you; bless, and curse not. 15Rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep. 16Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits. 17Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men. 18If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men.' (Rom. 12:14-18)

Our Lord even gave forgave those who crucified Him. "Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots." (Luke 23:34) Pastor "B"

"Now the Lord is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is... there is freedom." [2 Corinthlans 3:17]

As we approach Presidents' Day, we remember those founding fathers who built the foundation of our democracy and gave us our legacy of freedom. Such presidents as Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, and Abraham Lincoln come to mind, for it was those leaders who laid the plans and determined the principles of our nation. Our presidents gave us our heritage of freedom and we must continue to strengthen that foundation, led by the Spirit of the Lord.

The Bible tells us that though mankind changes, God's Word never changes. This is our spiritual foundation. Though technological advances dominate the news and our country is ever-changing, the Lord's foundation remains unblemished by time, and it keeps us and our nation strong and free.

Worship each week. Keep your spiritual foundation strong, for each stone must be sturdy if the foundation of freedom is to stand.

In addition, Laughton said she plans to hold an auction (complete with a student auctioneer) and a mini-market, too.

Laughton said she is using the mini-economy concept because the program provides a realistic setting for applying many mathematics and people skills, and gives students an insight on future career opportunities. "Students have an active role, rather than a passive role," the teacher said, and substantiates the need for this unique curriculum on these five points:

- · Children are big spenders and spending decisions are an important part of the economy.
- · Children will become lifelong consumers, so they need to learn how to make wise choices and experience the consequences when they don't.
- · Children need to realize that natural resources are scarce, so spending decisions require many choices. In a society that has so much, it is important to help children understand that choices have
- Children need to be taught the necessary skills to make wise spending and saving decisions, and learn how to budget their money.
- Children also need to understand that individual preferences and incomes influence their demand for goods and services.
- "A final reason mini-economy is important is that it is a tremendous motivator," Laughton "Almost without exception, students enjoy participating in the mini-economy. It adds an element of realism not usually present in previous learning experiences. I am anticipating an exciting year for my fourth graders, not only learning about our economic system, but actually experiencing it.

According to Laughton, many local businesses have contributed items to the "store," and donations are still being accepted. "Several students have already saved a substantial amount of money, and I would like to provide items of greater value and worthy of their saving efforts," she said.

Interlochen announces new four-week high school institutes

Interlochen Arts Camp, which each summer attracts students form all 50 states and more than 40 countries, has added two institutes to its extensive summer offerings for high school students.

Starting with the 2001 Camp season, Interlochen will offer a Drawing Institute and a Playwriting Institute, in addition to its wellknown Advanced String Quartet, Dance and Creative Writing insti-

Institute participants study their own arts area exclusively, and have their own faculty. A limited enrollment of 16 - 20 ensures individual attention.

"High school students in these areas thrive on a short - but intense learning experience, which is exactly what Interlochen's institutes offer," said Lois Kowalsky, director of registration. "Plus, students have the benefit of being amid the hundreds of other artistically talented students here for the eight-week high school camp."

Interlochen Arts Camp attracts more than 2,100 students age 8-18, who study music, theatre arts, dance, visual arts and creative writ-

The new Drawing Institute features a serie's of advanced drawing classes designed for students with previous drawing experience and established drawing ability. Two different Drawing Institute sessions will be offered, and students may apply for one or both. Drawing Institute dates are June 17 - July 14 and July 16 - August 13, 2001.

"For advanced students, the Drawing Institute is a good introduction to Interlochen's Visual Arts program," Kowalsky said. Interlochen offers many exhibit opportunities for visual artists during the summer.

"Each of Interlochen's five high school institutes provides students a unique opportunity to experience an Interlochen summer, but for a shorter period," Kowalsky said.

The new Playwriting Institute, June 17 - July 14 will provide students extensive work in developing dramatic scripts - from dialogue development and simple scenes to short one - act plays. Participants will have their own faculty, as well as the opportunity to collaborate with theatre arts students participating in the eight-week Arts Camp the writer at its center.'

"We hope to teach the basics of a well-made play, but also to help students experience how the vision of the playwright is melded with that of the director and actors," said Anne-Marie Oomen, chair of Interlochen's Creative Writing Division. "This lit-

Institute applicants must be in grades 9 - 12 at the time of application. An audition or portfolio is required. For details, visit Interlochen online at www.interlochen.org, or call Interlochen Admissions at (231) 276-7472.

P.I.T. Meeting - Our monthly meeting will be rescheduled for this Thursday at 8:25 a.m. at Grayling Middle School.

Remember - There will be no school on Monday, February 19.

Thursday, February 15, the 6th grade will be sponsoring an activity night at the middle school. The kids love these nights. If any businesses would like to sponsor a night, just let the school know

Friday, February 16, the 7th grade staff will be sponsoring a "Diligent Friday" for 7th graders that have turned in all of their assignments. From 12:30 p.m. to 1:42 p.m., the students will be able to learn Russian art, make different math shapes, participate in a dissection, or use the computers. This should be fun, and a few more volunteers are needed to help out. If you think you can, just show up at the office and they will assist you.

The 6th graders have started their candy bar fundraiser to help raise money for 6th grade camp. This is such a great opportunity for these kids, a real confidence builder. Even if you don't want a candy bar, consider donating a couple dollars toward this event. No 6th grader should miss it.

Middle school band concert -Thursday at 7 p.m. the middle school will be performing their pre-festival concert at the high school.

February 28, the 7th graders will be holding an Adult Recognition Breakfast. This is something new that we are trying throughout the middle school. Each 7th grader has the opportunity to nominate an adult that they feel has "done something good" or has been a positive influence on them in some way. The adult and the student who nominated them will be honored at a breakfast held at the middle school. This will be a great opportunity for students to thank someone they admire.

Attention all businesses: We will be holding a picnic at Beaver Creek at the end of the year for the whole middle school. We need sponsors for the bussing (which we all know costs a lot) and for planned activities. We are unsure of the costs, but this would be a great way to help all the kids at once, and you would have 500 kids (and parents) think you are pretty

Please call the middle school or Shirley Curriston (348-1348) if you think you may be able to help.

An explanation of ostomy surgery: It is performed because of disease, injury or birth defects to over 100,000 people in the United States each year. A stoma, or opening, is created on the abdominal wall, usually with the intestine, for the elimination of body waste with a collecting device worn in most cases.

The support group's prime concern is to aid patients and their families in the return to normal living following surgery.

SENIOR CITIZEN NEWS

by Jan Farley

Thought for the week ahead: People who do things that count. . . never stop to count them.

Mother Nature sure threw us a curve last week! Wow! School closings and the Center closes, too. We were bottled up, for sure. This presents a depressing problem to some of you. Shut up in your home or apartment for a long, long weekend makes for some blue days. Get on your phone and call friends. Even if you can't see them you can chat with them and it won't seem so quiet and lonely. Try it, it doesn't cost a dime, unless you call long distance, but even that is money well spent.

When the weather permits, you can beat the winter blahs by coming to your Senior Center and see what is going on.

Lots of good things are happening and all you have to do is come and join in.

Varsity team's game with G's postponed, rescheduled

Varsity, JV, and freshman teams to play Gladwin in a triple-header

Grayling's varsity boys basketball team remains in second place in the North East Michigan Conference after an idle week.

The Vikings had Tuesday off, and Friday night's game against the Gladwin Flying G's was cancelled due to poor weather conditions. Both the varsity and junior varsity matches will be made up on February 19 in Grayling in a basketball triple feature, which will also include the Grayling and Gladwin freshman basketball squads.

The two freshman teams were scheduled to play on February 19 at 6:15 p.m. With the scheduling change to accommodate the two added games, the freshmen will now play at 4:30 p.m. JV will follow, and the varsity team will play after the conclusion of the junior varsity match-up.

Last week, Tawas defeated West Branch Ogemaw Heights, bumping the Falcons down to third in the NEMC. The Braves continue to rule the top spot in the conference at 9-0 (15-0 overall).

Worker's Compensation will compensate the patient. This applies to chiropractic treatment as well as other types of health care. In fact, because of the savings in both time and costs, insurance companies are very favorably disposed to chiropractic treatment of injuries.

What kind of savings? Well, for every day a worker is off the job because of a job-related injury, it costs Worker's Comp. the company, and the individual money. Anything which can reduce the amount of time lost is a money-saver; and, over the

IN-TOEING, OUT-TOEING

It can be disconcerting for parents to see their child's feet turning in or out when walking; however, children almost always outgrow these conditions, called torsional deformities, without treatment. When the femur or tibia rotates abnormally either inward or outward, the feet can be affected. The femur is the bone between the hip and knee; the tibia runs between the knee and ankle. Internal and external tibial rotation is most common in children younger than two and is often related to the child's position in the uterus before birth. Internal rotation of the femur is the most common cause of in-toeing among children older than two. Possible causes for this condition include pre-birth positioning and poor sitting habits.

When you are caring for a small child, we believe one of the most important things we can provide you with is edu-cation. And taking care of the feet can't begin too early. never have known it as he dropped in off a six-foot ramp. Halfway up a 10-foot ramp, Krajenka jumped off the side of the big ramp to a four-foot wall attempting a little wall ride and landed clean, bringing cheers from the spectators and other competitors. After several grabs, transfers, and 180s, Krajenka wrapped up the beginner inline category when he took air off the four-foot ramp known as the spine and completed a 360 grab, giving him first place and a new helmet.

Jared Nelson of Cadillac stole the show in the advanced inline skaters category. He steadily racked up points with difficult tricks like rail grinds, 360 grabs, and multiple transfers from one ramp to another. As the other competitors and spectators cheered on Nelson took the competition to new heights. Dropping off a fourfoot, he raced up the four-foot spine and leapt at least seven feet in the air, then kicked off the inside wall of the skate park, landing on the back side of the spine. Nelson won a new helmet for first place in the advanced inline category.

Beginning skateboarders were next, where Billy Forbes of Grayling took top honors. He used the entire course and performed several nice kickflips, boardslides, and transfers from ramp to ramp. The competition was tough, but no one completed as many tricks in either of their two runs as did Forbes, earning him first place and a new skateboard deck.

The advanced skateboarders closed out the competition with the most contestants and toughest battle of all. Each skateboarder threw out every trick they had, but all came up a little short when Matt Verlac of Grayling took the floor. Completing kickflips, 50-50s, and some nose grinds, Verlac impressed the crowd and the judges enough to take first place in the advanced skateboarders category and win a new skateboard deck. He further impressed everyone when he donated his new deck for a door prize, which was won by Mike Kondel of Gaines, Michigan.

Throughout the day, contestants names were drawn randomly to be given prizes ranging from stickers and key chains to hats and shirts.

There was also a raffle, in which Andrew Hart of Grayling won a new skate board valued at $120. Jared Nelson of Cadillac also won a new skateboard deck.

Joe Lehman at Boards and Beyond organized the competition and donated all the prizes.

Why is it important to be rated as one of the top heart programs in the country? Twelve-year-old Alex Walker can tell you. He'll tell you about raising llamas and playing board games with his Grandma, Audrey Moses. What she first dismissed as extreme fatigue turned out to be a very serious blockage in her heart. "I can't stress strongly enough - listen to your body," says Audrey who underwent triple bypass heart surgery at Munson Medical Center.

Together with its physician and hospital partners, Munson Medical Center was one of only 13 heart programs in the nation to receive a Top 100 Hospital rating in both angioplasty and bypass surgery two years in a row, and only one of six hospitals to receive overall Top 100 Hospital status during the same years. Why do these numbers matter? Just ask Alex.

- 1 lemon, unpeeled, cut in half-cartwheel
- 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
- 4 cinnamon sticks 8 whole cloves 4 cups fresh squeezed orange juice 2 cups pineapple juice
- Juice of 2 lemons 2 cups water

Place citrus slices in heatproof bowl or large pitcher. In large saucepan, combine water, sugar and spices; bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, for 10 minutes. Add juices and heat. Do not boil. Pour over citrus slices; stir well. Makes about 8 cups. You may want to juice the lemon when it is at room temperature. Rolling it on the counter with the palm of your hand will further soften the lemon.

HOROSCOPES

For the week or February 19 thru February 25

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19):

A highly energetic week is ahead for you. Public advancement is a common occurrence so be sure to take advantage of any opportunity that comes your way. Keep your ego in check, as your confidence can be too great when such conditions can find you arrogant. You may feel as though you can do whatever you please, regardless of limitations, and with the Sun in unconventional Aquarius at the same time, it could be hazardous. Guard against overindulgence in food, drink, and sex. Your leadership and financial skills will also be very strong.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20):

There will be plenty of opportunity for you to make advances in your working life. You'll start the week off feeling prudent and conservative. Your management skills will be very strong, and if you need a hand with anything, chances are it will come from your mother or a motherlike figure. You can have a tremendous amount of energy, but it's important for you to .

GEMINI (May 21-June 21):

You'll start this week off with a thoughtful and more serious disposition. This can get you focused on the work that is ahead while lending strength to your concentration abilities. If you have a tendency to get a little carried away when it comes to food, drink, or other things, take more care. If there's a lot of work to be done this weekend, your mom or a mother-like figure is the most likely candidate to come to your aid. This is a result of the Moon sextiling with the Sun on Saturday.

CANCER (June 22-July 22):

An excellent week is ahead for you and will bring many of your strengths out into the open. You'll find it easy to concentrate and tend to detail. You'll be keenly aware of your personal dignity and your management skills will be strong. A calm, cheerful, and optimistic energy will be yours. Meetings with others for either personal or professional purposes will go over well, as your popularity, charm, and sense of humor will be in good standing.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22):

The opportunity for public advancement may present itself first of the week. Watch your ego, though, you are far more likely to be arrogant. Don't let success go to your head, and be mindful of being overly optimistic. A false sense of security usually leads to trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22):

Your cautious nature will help you to make prudent decisions. You might find that you don't want to do things in the same old way and your desire to express yourself will be stronger. Take care that you don't exert more energy solving others' problems than you spend on yourself it this regard. Your dedication to goals will see you reach new heights.

FOR ENTERTAINMENT ONLY

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23):

ity for you to make use of this week, enhancing your ability to think in a prudent and conservative way. This will serve you well when it comes to budgeting tasks and decision making. Let your creativity come out, your sense of color and artistic flair will bring you satisfaction with

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21):

This should prove to be a pleasant and productive week for you. Your mind will be alert and ready to work. Expect to feel more serious and conservative. You will naturally attract attention, and if you have children, you can bet they will want to spend some time with you. Finish up any work that takes focus and an analytical approach to try to set a little time aside on Sunday to enjoy your favorite creative outlet.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21):

There is sure to be a noticeable shift in energy and celestial impact on you this week. Monday brings clarity of thought and a prudent outlook. Use this day to get any paperwork done, as your concentration and analytical skills will be strong. Don't take unnecessary risks, no matter how tempting it might be for you. Your mind will be sharp but your body may need a little extra boost.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19):

Monday will start the week off with a serious and even cautious tone. This will work to your advantage, especially if there's a great deal of thought work to be done. Take care that you ego doesn't get the best of you. It can be far easier for you to come off as arrogant, and you might need to explain your position more than usual to avoid misunderstandings. You'll be mentally alert and conserva tive, and things will come easily to you.

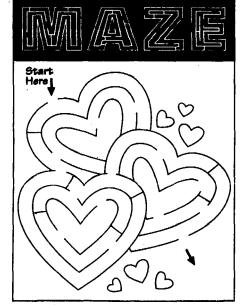

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18):

Monday will find you more serious, conservative, and prudent than usual for you. You're sure to be keenly aware of our sense of personal dignity, and should the opportunity for you to make public advancement occur. Take care that you do not get carried away. You will be acutely aware of your distaste for the conventional, and your mood is apt to be positive. Your ability to help others with their problems will be prominent. Just be sure that you save enough energy to help yourself.

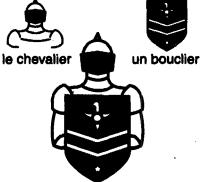

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20):

Monday will see you more thoughtful and serious. If you've got a full plate at work, you'll appreciate the focus this aspect will bring. Expect to see your popularity soar on Wednesday. You'll feel calm and optimistic, and your magnetic appeal will draw others to you. Just be sure that you spend as much energy solving your own challenges as you do others' problems. You can find yourself edgy, short tempered, and overly sensitive.

Adopt a Pet

This adorable brown, lab mix male is about 1 1/2 years old, and neutered. If you would like to take him home, or any other animal at the Animal Shelter please call the Animal Shelter at 348-4117.

ANIMAL SHELTER NEWS

Although there have been several adoptions in the past month, animals continue to be brought in and the small shelter is still crowded. Presently there are dogs, puppies and cats that need to go to good homes. The adult cat population is especially large and needs to be reduced.

The Animal Shelter of Crawford County has been cleaned and painted, with needed repair work done by Cynthia and Lee Mathews who repaired outside fencing and the puppy pen gate, and Al Kangas installed a new countertop. Volunteers are always needed and most welcome to walk dogs, feed and water the outside dogs, answer the phone or do cleanun work.

Tip of the Week: Put an I.D. tag and license on your dog's collar. That way, if your pet gets lost and someone finds it you can be contacted immediately.

The Animal Shelter is located at 508 1/2 Huron Street (M-72 East), between the Road Commission and the Eagles Hall. Current hours are 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., Monday-Saturday and 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Sunday. The phone number is 348-4117. Please leave a message if necessary.
